

WHITMAN SCORED AS 'IGNORANT' FOR BUDGET CRITICISM

ALBANY, Oct. 25.—Alfred E. Smith, Democratic candidate for Gov.

ernor, seized the first opportunity last night to answer Gov. Whitman's criticism of the size of the New York City budget, made in New York yesterday.

"Whitman is as barren of ideas about budget making as he is without knowledge of the actual figures of the New York City budget," said Mr. Smith, who, as a member of the Board of Estimate, is one of the officials charged with preparing the budget.

The Smith party arrived here last evening from Syracuse. The man against public meetings was lifted here only yesterday. To-morrow night there will be a Democratic mass meeting at Harmanus Bleeker Hall, preceded by a torchlight parade and other enlivening adjuncts of a political campaign.

At the station Mr. Smith was met by a good sized delegation of Albany Democrats, headed by the veteran leader and former member of the Compensation Commission, "Packy" McCabe. Later a small dinner party, in honor of Mr. Smith, Harry C. Walker, candidate for Lieutenant Governor, and Miss Helen Todd, who is campaigning with Mr. Smith, was given at Keeler's. It was there Mr. Smith made his remarks about the Governor's budget figures in a brief speech.

'TANKS' NAMED BY SOLDIERS.

British Troops Told Riveters Were Working on Water Carriers.

The name of "tank" came to be applied to the great armored tractor that have played such an important part in the war on account of the secrecy surrounding their first appearance, according to Horace Gaul, a veteran. He said: "In the front lines we used to get our water from small tanks conveyed from purifying plants by motor. In a few months we heard the sound of rivets being driven night and day. This went on for months, and when we asked what they were making the answer was 'tanks.' When the first huge steel fortress lumbered across No Man's Land it was then that there christened a 'tank' by our men and the name has stuck ever since."

SAVED MANY, ILL HERSELF.

Head of Jersey Institution Worked Against Influenza.

TRENTON, Oct. 25.—After having prevented any of the inmates of the State Home for Feeble-Minded Women from contracting Spanish influenza through use of a prophylactic treatment, Dr. Madeleine A. Halliwell, head of the institution at Vineland, went to the aid of the stricken inmates of the State Home for Boys at Jamesburg. Installed her treatment and prophylaxis, which cured twenty of the boys, but was herself stricken with influenza complicated by double bronchial trouble.

Announcement of her illness was made by the State Department of Charities and Corrections to-day.

DOWNSTAIRS

Women's Serge or Satin Dresses,

300 All-wool Serge Dresses—
Mostly Blue

200 Satin Dresses—Mostly Blue

$10

Last Tuesday the Downstairs Store held one of the greatest dress sales in its history. Tomorrow—Saturday—the second part of that noteworthy purchase will go on sale at $10; and the low price indicates a value that is as unusual—proportionately—as the first.

How many New York women could buy all-wool serge and have a dress made—for $10? How many could buy satin and have a dress made—for $10? These two questions—absurd though they may sound—are the keynotes to this Saturday offer.

Every woman knows the practical value of serge and satin frocks; and her choice in this large group will embrace many new models. We have emphasized blue only; but there are SOME in black, some in taupe, and some in various other colors. Old Building

Exquisite COATS for Misses, $39.75

218 of Standard $45 to $85 Grades

An amazing collection of this season's very beautiful wraps, all new, from three specialist New York manufacturers.

Materials include silvertone, velours, bolivia, and pompon. 150 of the coats have fur collars, many have fur cuffs and some have fur pockets and fur trimming at the foot; the furs include Hudson seal (dyed muskrat), Australian opossum, natural and taupe dyed nutria, dyed opossum, French seal (dyed coney), and a few coats have detachable fox scarfs.

Colors include all the scarce shades of the season such as rust, blue, gray, tan, taupe, reindeer, burgundy, oxford, brown, bright youthful red, etc. Sizes 14 to 20 years. New Building

O. D. 30-ounce melton, all wool, sizes 36 up. For officers.

50 Regulation Army Overcoats, were $45 $33.50

O. D. melton.

50 Raincoats for Mounted Officers, were $17.50 $10

Saturday—Burlington Arcade floor, New Building

UPSTAIRS

Men's $30 and $32.50 Suits, $24.50

There is no guesswork about these values. We shopped all around New York. We compared accurately and carefully; and we found these special $24.50 suits to be equal, in every detail, to the usual $30 and $32.50 suits that New York stores are now offering.

Another point—the variety is NOT limited as it is in some stores. Worsteds, flannels, chevots and tweeds are plentifully provided; half-lined or fully lined coats may be chosen, with plain or slanting pockets; and there are form-fitting coats for young men, and straighter coats for the fathers of young men. Sizes enough for a regiment—short, tall, stout, slim, regular. 331 men will profit Saturday. Broadway, cor. Eighth St.

UPSTAIRS

10,000 Men's Shirts Down to 95c

Our Regular $1.20, $1.50, $1.65 Qualities

The reduction tells the story! Last year, if you remember, the shirt opportunity was one of the history-making events of the Million Dollar Sales; but when we planned to duplicate the savings this year, we found market conditions vastly different. There were no short ends of good shirtings available—no odd lots that could be bought below market value; so in order to offer you a worth-while saving—we have taken 10,000 fresh, new shirts from our reserve stocks and marked them 95c—and any man who knows the shirt market will tell you that 95c shirts have vanished from the wholesale market completely. All are negligee style—with soft cuffs—and in sizes 14 to 17. The good, substantial, all-the-year-round madras cloth shirts that every man needs. Come early. Burlington Arcade floor, New Bldg.
